1 Introduction

CrossCore Utilities is a collection of utilities for use with Analog Devices processors, in conjunction with CrossCore Embedded Studio, IAR or Keil development tools.

- `ccsfp` (CrossCore Serial Flash Programmer): GUI and command line utility for programming processor flash memory via UART serial connections.
- `elf2ldr`: Command line utility for converting ELF-format executables into the loader stream ("ldr") format suitable for booting of ADSP-CM40x processors as well as for dynamic loading with the `libldr` library available in the Board Support Packages of some processors.
- `crctool`: Command line utility for calculating and inserting cyclic redundancy check (CRC) values as required by the boot integrity checks of ADSP-CM41x, ADuCM302x and ADuCM4x50 processors.

A CrossCore Embedded Studio license is not required in order to use CrossCore Utilities.

2 News

Release 1.6.1 adds flash programming support for the Octal SPI devices provided on the EV-SC594-SOM and EV-SOMCRR-EZ-KIT.

3 Installation

The install location can be chosen during installation. The default is C:\Analog Devices\CrossCoreUtilities-Rel1.6.1.

The installation contains the following directories:

- bin: Contains the utility executables.
- etc: Collateral such as example files for CCSFP.
- src: Sources for the utilities as well as the CCSFP flash programmer second stage kernels.
- Docs: Documentation.

4 Documentation

Each of the utilities is documented in its own PDF file in the Docs folder.
